PRESIDENT TELLS RUSSIA TREATY IS TO BE ABROGATED

Communication Sent Dec. 15, and Action in Congress Will Be Temperate.

circumstances. Some felt the House should be ignored and others insisted that it should not be.

Members of the committee did not attempt to conceal the fact that they were facing a weighty situation. It was looked on as the greatest international crisis which the country has faced since the complications with Japan over the San Francisco school riots.

Sepators were mysterious as to the exact situation, but they did point out that there was no longer question of abrogation, and that the chief point was how to proceed. It was the feeling of a majority of the committee that the resolution to be adopted by the Senate in any event should be stripped of everything calculated to give offense to Russia. The resolution as it will go to the Senate this afternoon will be a purely formal one.

Sulzer Willing. From the House side of the Capitol came the word that Chairman Sulzer of the House Committee on Foreign Affairs stated he had no pride of authorship, and that so long as the treaty was abrogated he was not captious as was abrogated he was not captious as to the wording of the revolution.

House leaders insisted that it was part of the prerogative of the House to be consulted about abrogation. They did not take kindly to the notion of the House being ignored.

President Taft today not only conferred with Senators, but also with Secretary Knox. Silence was preserved as to what passed.

It is realized in best-informed quarters that only the initial steps have been taken on the passport question. Even with the immediate crisis precipitated by the language of the Sulzer resolution bridged over, the end is not yet. Now will come the difficult matter of settling the passport problem by diplomatic means. This will be difficult in the extreme. Many believe it will be impossible, and that further grave complications may be looked for. The Senate took up the passport question this afternoon. A long and stormy debate is expected.

Long Session.

The Foreign Relations Committee, after a discussion of nearly three hours, concluded its meeting at 1:45 o'clock. It adopted a joint resolution of a formal nature for the abrogation of the treaty. It was given out that President Taft had notified the committee that on De-cember 15 he had served notice on Russia for the abrogation of the treaty. The committee had a long discussion as to whether it should adopt simply a Senate resolution and ignore the house. A joint resolution was finally decided upon. Its wording is of a character designed to satisfy masia.

Say Taft Has Scored. Republican leaders in the Senate declare that President Taft in serving notice through Ambassador Guild to abrogate the agreement has scored on the House Democrats. They insisted credit for the abrogation of the treaty would p to the Administration, instead of the gouse Democratic leaders

Secrecy Shrouds Probable Action Of President Taft

After the early morning conferences at the White House between the Presi dent, Secretary Knox, Senators Rayner, Cullem, Burten, and McCumber of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, not one word was issued from official circles as to the probable move of the Administration in the Russian embroglio.

When questions were asked, White House officials either said nothing at all or else reminded the inquirers that the Senate had before it the passport question involving the abrogation of the treaty, and for the present the White House could make no announce-

Just the same, information leaked out that the President already has decided to abrogate the treaty by Executive action, and that he had so advised the Senate Committee on Foreign Relations. The information further indicated that he had instructed Ambassador Curtis Guild, at St. Petersburg, to notify the Guild, at St. Petersburg, to notify the Russian government of the Administra-

Guild, at St. Petersburg, to notify the Russian government of the Administration's purposes.

After the call of the Senators at the White House this morning, Secretary Knox was sent for. He was with Mr. Taft for probably an hour, and when he left all he would say was that within "four or five hours" the whole program would be known.

The Secretary was pressed to say whether or not the Administration already had taken some action, or that the President had simply advised the Senate that he would do so. To all questions the Secretary answered nothing at all. All he could suggest was that the country would have to wait.

Neither was it announced that a special message would be sent to the Senate or that a communication had already gone to the Committee on Foreign Relations, Nothing was admitted in White House circles.

As far as possible the President closed

House circles.

As far as possible the President closed all avenues of ordinary information. The Russian matter had reached such a stage that the Administration found it of the greatest importance to keep the moves secret as far as practicable.

Citizens of All Creeds Uphold Sulzer's Stand For Abrogating Treaty

Views of Congressmen on the Sulzer resolution calling for the termination of the Russian passport treaty of 1852, which passeds the House almost unanimonsly last week, were spoken in the most direct manner at the mass meeting held at the new Masonic Temple vesterday afternoon, when more than two thousand representative citizens of Washington and members of Congress met to demand the treaty's abrogation.

Congressman Sulzer of New York, author of the resolution which has crested such a stir, and at which Russia is said to have taken offense, made the principal address at the meeting. Unanimously the suditorium meeting reaffirmed its stand on the Sulzer resolution.

Brief addresses also were made by Senator Polndexter, Congressman Dyer, Congressman Marray, William F. Gude, Judge William B. Le Lacy, and Rabbi

The meeting was held under the auspices of the Hebrew organizations of the District.
Congressman Subser declared that under the treaty of 1812 it is provided that the citizens of the United States be al-lowed to travel with as much freedom in Russian territory as the Russians do in this country.
"This treaty is plain, and cannot be misunderstood," he said. 'But for more than forty years Russia repeatedly and continuously has violated it. Russia not only has discriminated against the Hebrews, but against Protestanta and Cathelies of this country.

"Every Secretary of State we have had for the last forty years has begged Russia to live up to the treaty; every President has asked Russia to treat our citizens as we treat hers; members of Congress have taken up the question. Russia in every instance has ignored each pleading, each request, each demand. It is time some drastic steps be taken."

Chairman Toepper read a letter from Congressman Goldfogle, who was unable to be present at the meeting. In it he said:

congressman Goldfogie, who was the able to be present at the meeting. In it he said:

"America has too long patiently endured Russia's insulting conduct in the treatment of our passports. Russia has craftily and cunningly endeavored to evade the issue and has treated with indifference the many demands our Government has, from time to time, made that she treat our clitzens alike when they presented passports to her for vise. The dishonoring of the American passport, when carried by a lawabiding American clitzen, is a violation of the present treaty and an affront to our country.

"The resolutions of Congress, heretofore—three of which were introduced by me—cailed upon our Government to take steps to secure the removal of Russia's bigoted restrictions, or the making if a definite, explicit treaty under which there should be no question as to Russia's duty to accord equal treatment to fall our clitzens desiring to travel or sojourn in Russian territory.

"Diplomatic negotictions in pursuance of these Congression.' I mandates were begun and falled. Our demands have gone unheeded; our please have been in vain; our efforts have proved unavailing, and, as a matter of national self-respect and for the vindication of American clitzenship, we ought to now and at once give notice to Russia that we elect to terminate and abrogate the treaty."

Senator Poindexter in his address declared that Rursia admits, having violated the treaty repeatedly. I am in

Senator Poindexter in his address declared that Rursia admits, having violated the treaty repeatedly. I am in favor of the language of the Sulzer resolution as it passed the House without modification or amendment. I am in favor of speedy action; not hasty action. I do not want to see the United States back down in this matter."

Congressman Dyer of Missouri said the object of the meeting was to show to Congress that representatives of every race, religion, and creed approve the course of the House in adopting the Sulzer resolution.

The committee on arrangements having charge of the mass meeting consisted of Joseph Toepper, Reuben Finkelstein, M. B. Bodek, M. Schwartz, A. E. Weiner, S. Gordon, H. Weger, A. Klein, H. Goldman, Milton Leinson, Max Needle, L. Cohen, and A. J. Sugar.

Three Are Indicted Upon Girl's Story

Three indictments today were returned by the grand jury against Martin H. Bray, a contractor, as a result of his alleged friendship with Alberta W. Sedleir, a young girl, who told a most pitiable story.

Jointly indicted with Bray, who is a married man, in two of the bills are Dr. Richard L. Gaines, a physician, and Mary C. Johnson, a nurse. The two indictments in question charge that two operations, one year apart, were performed on the Sedleir girl, who told the grand jury she was eighteen years old on October 27 last.

The story told by the Sedleir girl, who stated that she lived with her mother. Mrs. Wilhelmina Connor, at 1617 Thirteenth street northwest, was that she was introduced to Bray about three years ago by a young man whom sho years ago by a young man whom sachad met at a dancing school, the introduction being at her own home. She said she did not know that Bray was married until five or six months later, and that he then supplemented a previous promise to marry her by saying that he intended to get a divorce.

The girl testified that Bray won her love when she was ill by sending her baskets of fruit. She had the mumps during this sickness, she said, and Bray and a friend often called.

Marble for Columbus Memorial on Ground

Marble parts of the Columbus memorial, which is to be erected in front of the Union Station, are arriving in the city every day. Next Tuesday is the date set when masons will begin the actual work of putting the parts in their proper places. Twenty re-enforced concrete girders have been laid, and a force of workmen is busy today laying the main part of the foundation. Plumbing connections are also being

The contract calls for the memorial to be completed by May 1. It will cost about $100,000 when completed. A. W. Taylor, of this city, who is superintending the work for the contractors, says the work will be completed on time.

Mayer Loses in Suit For Father's Estate

His fight for a tract of land in Chevy Chase as the heir of his father, Theowore J. Mayer, was lost today by Theodore Albert Mayer in the United States Supreme Court. The high court affirmed a decision of the District Court of Appeals that the land belongs to the general Mayer estate, and cannot be claimed by the son as heir-at-law.

The land was deeded by Mayer to George Washington University upon conditions with which the university failed to comply. Then the son claimed the tract, declaring title was not passed under a general deed of trust to the American Security and Trust Company.

Agrees to Let Wife Finish Her Shopping

Mrs. George G. Bywater can finish her Christmas shopping in peace, because er husband promised Judge James L. Pugh, in United States branch of Police Court, teday, that he will not use any more physical arguments to prevent her.

Bywater was arraigned on the charge of assaulting his wife, but the complaining witness had a change of heart and teld the court she did not want to prosecute. She said she and her huster a shopprosecute. She said she and her hus-band had a disagreement over a shop-ring trip, but she felt he would give her no further trouple. The defendant was released on his personal bond.

Full Train Crew Law Of Indiana Upheld

Validity of an Indiana law requiring ailroads to maintain adequate crews on rains, fixing the number of men on trains of certain length, was sustained today by the United States Supreme Court. The Indiana courts also held the full train rew law valid in test cases against the "Big Four" railroad.

Alleged Bucketshop Proprietors Appeal

Louis Cella and other alleged "bucket shop" proprietors arrested in Government raids a year ago today asked the United States Supreme Court to review the decision of the District of Columbia Court of Appeals, holding the anti-bucket shop law constitutional.

Frank Jefferson alias Charles Murphy, is charged in United States branch of Police Court with being the accomplice of John M. Jefferson in a forgery to obtain $3,000 on a deed of trust on the Vermont avenue property of Frank G. Carpenter, the well-known newspaper writer and traveler. This defendant was held in $2,500 bonds for preliminary nearing on Wednesday, when John M.

Jefferson, whose case was continued Saturday, is arraigned. Jefferson or Murphy has been identified, according to Detectives O'Irien and Springman, by officials of the Union Trust Company and others as being an accomplice in the alleged forgery attempt. The detectives say he is thirtyone years old; that he accompanied the elder Jefferson on his trips to the banking nouse and real estate offices, passing himself as the son of the older man.

Forty-six Licenses for Forty-six applications for liquor licenses for the year which began November 1, it was announced today, have been held up by the Excise Board. Most of these licenses will be granted, it was said, on compliance with certain techsaid, on compliance with certain technical objections raised by the board. In the event it is decided to refuse any applications, hearings will be granted the proprietor of the saloon in question.

Approximately 200 licenses have been issued to date. The number of applications this year was 513 retail and 123 wholesale. Until the licenses are renewed or rejected, the saloons are allowed to operate under their licenses for the preceding year.

McNamaras Denounced,

But Burns Ignored

Union labor men throughout the city today are commenting on the fact that Columbia Typographical Union. No. 101, adopted resolutions last night which denounced the McNamaras in visorous terms, but did not include denunciation of Detective Burns.

Hitherto resolutions adopted in the District and in other places have generally wound up by denouncing William Burns sometimes almost as scathingly as the McNamaras for the alleged kidnaping of the dynamiters.

OLD ARMY AND NAVY CLUBHOUSE TO BE APARTMENT HOUSE

With Stores on Street Floor Frontage.

The old Army and Navy Club building at the southeast corner of I street and Connecticut avenue is to be replaced by a building with stores on the first floor and bachelor apartments above. This is to be done as soon as the new club home opposite is completed early next summer.

The club property has passed, for a price reported by Story & Cobb to be $85,000, to Frank Walter. The property contains about 2,800 square feet, and has a frontage of 121 feet on I street, and fifty feet on Connecticut avenue. Only tentative plans so far have been made.

Soon to Build.

F. B. Pyle has completed plans for the reconstruction of the old Equitable Co-operative Building Association building, at 1003 F street northwest, and will submit them to Woodward & Lothrop immediately after the holidays. It is expected that then they will be put into definite shape, and bids be asked so that construction may be begun in the spring. A new, eight-story building is planned.

To Rent Land.

The difficulty over the right of Bethany Chapel of the New York Avenue Presbyterian Church to occupy the Government property upon which it stands at Ohio avenue, C and Thirteenth streets, has been settled by the agreement of the Government to accept a yearly rental of $10. The arrangement is for five years, but may be terminated by the Government at any time.

The Safest Investments Are those that do not fluctuate during dis-turbed conditions of the meney or stock mar-kets. First deed of trust notes (first meri-ages), well secured on real estate in the District of Columbia, constitute "glit edge" investments. They do not depend upon the financial responsibility of individuals or cor-perations for their stability and are exempt from taxation as personal property. We can supply such investments in amounts from $500 upward. Eend for booklet, "Concerning Leans and Investments."
